I. Read the following passage:

HOW THE TEDDY BEAR GOT ITS NAME?

Who doesn't like the little, cute, cuddly, Teddy Bear? We all do. A Teddy Bear is the most loved toy animal among children. Many of us do not know that there is a story behind the name of Teddy. He was named after a very famous man.

We all have heard about USA as the super power. The complete name of USA is the United States of America. It is known as the most developed country in the world. There was a very famous President of the US. His name was Theodore Roosevelt.

Once, the President was on hunting trip to a town in the US. He was on his way to a forest. Suddenly, a small bear cub crossed his path. Although Roosevelt's reason for going there was to hunt animals he refused to shoot the little cub. It was a great action on his part. This incident about the President became very famous all over America.

After a few days of this incident, a cartoon came out in an American newspaper. It showed the President and his small animal friend, the little cub. This story became very famous. Many people began to get ideas to use the story for their own good.

One such person was a toy-maker who wrote a letter to President Roosevelt. He asked the President if he could use his nickname. It was meant to make a soft, cuddly toy called Teddy's Bear. The toy became very popular in a very short period of time. Today, all the children have at least one such Teddy.
